NO. 49.

ARE THEY THERE?

Report That American Troops Have Arrived.

THEY LAND NEAR SANTIAGO.

That Town is to Be Attacked By Them Without Delay.

Madrid, June 20.—A private dispatch received here from New York says General Shafter's expedition has landed near Santiago de Cuba and will attack the town immediately.

Of Guantanamo, June 20.—According to reports made by Cuban scouts, the inhabitants of Calmaera have strewn the streets with straw and oil with the intention of destroying the city and fleeing to the hills.

Starving and famine stricken, convinced of the ultimate triumph of the American arms and without faith in the protection of the Spanish soldiers, the people have determined to leave their houses in ashes.

The people are eating horses and mules and are scouring the hills for fruits and herbs. Occasional brief bombardments by the American fleet have the helpless citizens terror stricken, no preparations for defense being made.

The Spanish garrison at Calmaera has been loaded with inflammables and will be burned with the city, her commander declaring that he will never become an American prisoner.

The Spanish soldiers are in almost a complete state of panic as are the civilians and they could easily be induced to surrender.

Some of the prisoners taken by the marines say they believe the Spanish troops are on the verge of surrendering owing to the lack of food.

Of Santiago de Cuba, June 20.—The American gunners last Thursday spent the day and night everywhere, as revealed by a careful inspection of the fortifications along the crest of the hills defending Santiago harbor.

The rumors which circled on level wings over the hills, as thick as swallows around a chimney, for hours after the firing ceased, furnished gruesome evidence of the fatality among the Spanish soldiers.

The most ominous token of death flew from Morro castle. The saffron flag of Spain was hauled down for several hours. The significance of this is not known. It is not customary to haul down flags, but possibly some Spanish leader was killed by the heavy fire of our guns, though some officers of the squadron believe that the flag was hauled down as a notification to the Americans that Lieutenant Hobson and his brave men had been murdered.

Key West, Fla., June 20.—A Cuban pilot named Juan Santos, who arrived here on board an American warship, reports that he entered Santiago de Cuba and found there a Spanish garrison of 15,000 men.

He adds that the vessels of Admiral Cervera's fleet lying at that port are the armored cruisers Cristobal Colon, Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo, two small cruisers, two torpedo boats and the Reina Mercedes.

The pilot further says that the Spanish war vessels are fully manned, but that the crews are discouraged and disaffected.

Cadix, June 20.—Captain Anson says he fears it will be impossible for Admiral Cervera to escape, but that he is convinced that Cervera will take the first opportunity for an exchange of compliments with the Americans.

Of Santiago de Cuba, June 20.—Spies report to Admiral Sampson that the Spanish general, Jorja, and several other officers were killed by the gunboats exploded at the first trial on the batteries by the Vesuvius.

Hongkong, June 20.—The British steamer Yuen Sang, which arrived from Manila on June 14, reports that on leaving Manila she sighted a number of vessels believed to be American transports.

Matanzas, Cuba, June 18.—The Spanish are spoiling for a fight and they anticipate that, after defeating the American fleet, they will invade Florida, where General Molina has prohibited his troops to put the entire population to the sword.

Washington, June 18.—When General Miles was asked if he expected an early fight in Cuba he said that is what the troops have gone for.

Hongkong, June 18.—Advices from Manila say that the insurgents have captured the family of Governor General Augustus.

More Big Shells Thrown into the Fortifications at Santiago.

Of Santiago de Cuba, June 17.—At daylight Thursday morning Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet bombarded the batteries at Santiago de Cuba for the third time.

For hours the ships pounded the batteries at the right and left of the entrance, only sparing El Morro, where Lieutenant Hobson and his companions of the Merrimack are in prison.

The western batteries, against which the main assault was directed, were badly wrecked. In others many guns were dismantled.

At first the Spaniards replied passionately and wildly, but impotently. Then most of the guns were deserted. Not a ship was struck nor a man injured on the American side. It is believed that the enemy's loss of life was heavy.

As a preliminary to the hammering given the batteries the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was given another chance. Three 250 pound charges of gun cotton were sent over the fortifications at the entrance.

The design was to drop them in the bay, around the angle, back of the emulsion on which El Morro is situated, where it was known that the Spanish torpedo boat destroyers were lying.

Two charges went through as no reports were heard—a peculiarity of the explosion of gun cotton in water. Whether the destroyers were demolished is not known, but the destructive area of gun cotton is large and it would not be surprising if it is subsequently ascertained that one or both were destroyed. The third charge exploded with terrific violence on Cayo Smith.

From where the fleet lay the entrance to the harbor looked, in the black night, like a door opening into the livid fire of a titanic furnace. A crater big enough to hold a church was blown out of the side of the Cayo Smith and was clearly seen from the ships.

of greater dimensions than any heretofore discussed, with Porto Rico as the objective point.

A month ago the military authorities were satisfied that a small force would be sufficient to occupy Porto Rico, as the Spanish force there did not exceed 5,000 or 6,000 men.

Now, however, the Spanish garrisons have been so reinforced and the defenses strengthened that it is believed a much larger invading army will be required.

Moreover, the officials were satisfied on learning that the Cadix fleet had sailed, that the ships would go to Porto Rico, rather than to Cuba, if they crossed to this side.

Washington, June 17.—The war department expects to utilize approximately 35 transports in the expedition for the invasion of Porto Rico. The estimate is made that the 35 vessels will carry between 15,000 and 20,000 men with their equipments and subsistence.

Washington, June 17.—It is well understood here that Germany has sent her five warships to Manila in aid of Spain, and Admiral Dewey has been ordered to attack the Kaiser's ships at the first sign of interference.

MADE THEM RUN.

The Spanish "War Bep" Chased into the Woods.

Washington, June 16.—The navy department was greatly relieved by reports of the capture of the Spanish ship "War Bep" by the United States fleet.

It was disclosed in a dispatch from Admiral Sampson and brought relief to the naval officials. The early reports had indicated that the marines were surrounded, and it was feared that they might be compelled to return to the ships before General Shafter's invading army reached there on Friday.

The coming of the Cuban forces seems to have been in the nick of time, and naval officials gave the credit to the timeliness of this Cuban cooperation.

The admiral's dispatch stated that the condition of the marines was entirely satisfactory, which assurance, although brief, was enough to relieve officials here of the fears they had entertained.

But probably the most significant feature of the admiral's dispatch was the statement that the Cuban general, Jesus Rabi, had occupied Acerraedros, only eight miles from the Spanish stronghold.

This is looked upon as a fine military stroke, for Acerraedros is the port where iron wharves will afford facilities for unloading the heavy artillery carried by General Shafter's invading expedition.

The constant reports that Germany is on the eve of making a serious lane in the Philippines are unaccountable to officials here, who have the most direct and positive information that Germany has never contemplated such a step, and is not now moving toward its execution, either alone or with other powers.

United States Camp, East Side of Entrance to Guantanamo Bay, June 16.—Lieutenant Colonel Robert W. Huntington and the United States marines made their first aggressive movement against the Spanish guerrillas Tuesday and completely routed the enemy.

The force of marines was under Captain Elliott, and the Spanish force was under Colonel Laborda.

The combined forces of the Spanish camp about five miles from the American position, destroying the only well in the vicinity and killed about 40 Spaniards.

One American marine was slightly wounded. Two Cubans were killed and it is believed there were at least 400.

It is impossible to estimate the number of guerrilla methods of fighting, but they report having had a series of engagements with the Spaniards, in which 100 Spanish soldiers were killed and 200 wounded.

They also destroyed a Spanish block-house and telegraph station, through which the Spaniards had been keeping the movements of American troops.

Washington, June 16.—By a vote of 209 to 101 the house of representatives adopted the Newlands resolutions providing for the annexation of Hawaii. The vote in support of the resolutions was made up of 179 Republicans, 18 Democrats, 8 Populists and 4 Fusionists; they voted against annexation comprised 77 Democrats, 3 Republicans, 7 Populists and 1 Fusionist.

AMERICA'S HEART.

Men say "tis the age when science leads,
That the world's too busy for life dreams;
Competition and strife for its selfish needs,
Are its present aims and its only themes.
Not so! For America's heart is young,
And the young heart leaps at the clarion's song

Aye, ever, thank God, shall ideals reign
O'er the great heart of humanity
Which pulsates and thrills with every hidden strains
That breathe of the soul's yearning symphony:
That call men to duty with clarion strength,
Then whisper them, "Charity flourish long."

Sing on, then, ye poets, both bold and free,
Sing, Sing for pure love of the stirring strain!

And give your hearts to the melody
For America's heart burns but for gain.

That heart as of old years to flee away
From mere sordid strife with the things of clay.

MANIFEST DESTINY.

It seems in the nature of manifest destiny that a century after Jefferson had unconsciously launched his policy of territorial expansion, the United States should be reaching her arms out into the Atlantic and Pacific to gather in new territory. Hawaii and the Philippines are immensely rich in their natural resources and boundless possibilities. Should they become a part of American domain they will become rich fields for action and will give opportunities for the employment of Yankee capital and enterprise. Victories of peace will be won there that shall redound to the honor and glory of the Republic. The expansion to our commerce that will result in Pacific waters will build an empire on the coast states of California, Washington and Oregon that will live in wealth and population with the communities of the East. Such an expansion will not result in Imperialism or any tendency in that direction. Those who argue to the contrary question the stability of the national character and depreciate the strength and fitness of our form of government. If our character is not equal to the responsibilities that attend the growth of a great nation and if our form of government cannot adapt itself to people who are striving for liberty then it is a failure—humanity is a failure—and the sooner the crash comes the better. It is to be regretted, though, that, as a nation, we will be tried to the balance and found wanting. There is a glorious destiny, yes, a sacred destiny awaiting this country and the conditions that make it imperative for us to take up new territory are means toward its achievement.

I enjoyed "The New Crusade" or paragraphing from Mr. Goodnight's pen on the Dewey victory, American possessions, American patriotism and unselfishness in this war now being urged and I agree with his ideas entirely. A reticentist who has the power to entertain and please is rare. Mrs. C. G. Moreman and daughter, Miss Linnie, gave a most delightful dancing party last Friday evening. The occasion brought out all society lights of our little city, for an entertainment at Mrs. Moreman's means a charming time. The large dancing room, looked attractive and patriotic with the American colors draped on the mantle. Dewey and Hobson's pictures framed with the stars and stripes waving over them. Flowers, globes of gold, bright lights, a waxed floor, pretty girls in evening dress, handsome beaux, with the clever O'Leary boys to render the sweetest of music to make up the social event for the season. A crowd of thanks is always in order for Mrs. Moreman's kindness to the young people.

Death of Mrs. Steele. After a lingering illness, Mrs. Ella Steele, daughter of John D. Gregory, Sr., died at her home on the hill, at 10 o'clock Monday night. The deceased was a woman of splendid attributes and Christian character. She was born May 30, 1838, and was married June 20, 1858, to a member of the Baptist church. Her remains were interred at the Cloverport cemetery Tuesday afternoon and they were followed to the grave by a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

Fined Thirty Dollars. The examining trial of Benjamin Mattingly and Thos. Ryan came off in the Fourth Court Tuesday afternoon. Judge James E. Skillman presiding. They were each fined $30 and costs for carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Benjamin Mattingly was held over to await the action of the grand jury under a bond of $100 for other charges.

I enjoyed "The New Crusade" or paragraphing from Mr. Goodnight's pen on the Dewey victory, American possessions, American patriotism and unselfishness in this war now being urged and I agree with his ideas entirely. They are truly red, white and blue sentiments and just at this supreme moment I have very little patience with any other kind.

It takes several years of careful training to result in the practical results of an elegant and refined pronouncement of the English language the acquisition of an absolutely distinct utterance, a flexible and melodious use of the voice and to secure the most pleasing intonations and natural results and yet see people who deem it an easy undertaking.

Mrs. C. G. Moreman and daughter, Miss Linnie, gave a most delightful dancing party last Friday evening. Death of Mrs. Steele. After a lingering illness, Mrs. Ella Steele, daughter of John D. Gregory, Sr., died at her home on the hill, at 10 o'clock Monday night. The deceased was a woman of splendid attributes and Christian character. She was born May 30, 1838, and was married June 20, 1858, to a member of the Baptist church. Her remains were interred at the Cloverport cemetery Tuesday afternoon and they were followed to the grave by a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

PORK AND PROSPERITY.

A Brave Old English Franklin Sets the Pace.

That Introduced Commercialism in an Age of Chivalry.

UNCLE SAM AND SPAIN CONTRASTED

In the opening chapter of Ivanhoe Sir Walter Scott introduces us to Cedric of Rotherwood, a typical Saxon Frank, one of those men with hearts of oak, whose rugged spirit of independence survived the tyranny of William the Conqueror, and is, to this day the heritage of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Cedric of Rotherwood was, undoubtedly, one of the pioneers of Britain's greatness. He lived in the era of feudalism and chivalry, and, no doubt, was in hearty accord with its traditions and customs of his time, but he was the patron of an industry that was to end the way of feudalism and chivalry — as eventually make merry England the mightiest power in the world.

The giant oak and beech trees that spread their branches over the demesne of Rotherwood afforded plenty of mast and under the watchful eye of Gurth, the thrall of Cedric of Rotherwood, herds of swine fattened and gave inspiration to the philosophy of Wamba, the Jester.

Great Britain's early wealth and prestige were the products of pork and pigs. In the days of Cedric of Rotherwood her patriars were hog raisers and the flower of her young men sailed herds. It was in the twelfth century that commercialism dawned. The increase of the population caused England to look to other markets to dispose of the surplus and this enterprise was the step that soon made her the commercial of Western Europe. London then began her career of glory and power. From a hog market she has become the world's clearing house. The swine paths that led to London were the means of making that city the hub of the universe—all the highways of commerce center there.

It has been the fashion with the citizens of the effete nations of Europe to insinuate that the Yankees were a nation of swine-herds. The Spaniards call us pigs. The fertile farms and the intelligent husbandry that characterize this country blossom up with a swine capacity that is far beyond our necessities. We, therefore have been compelled to look to Europe as a market for the surplus products of our farms. The beef and pork of America became staple products in the old world and the apparently unlimited amount of pork raised on this side of the herring pond has induced foreignness with the belief that the majority of our people do nothing else than raise hogs.

The paper is always avicious of those who are prosperous. The dead beat invariably scorns the self supporting individual. It is so with nations. The country whose people are prosperous generate those national ideals that create popular thrift and prosperity. The country that ostracizes the shop-keeper or any one engaged in trade has outlived its usefulness. It were better that Spain be a nation of swine-herds than one of paupers. The false pride that causes that country to turn up its nose at honest thrift and energy has proved the undoing of the people and has made a mendicant out of the nation.

In the meantime the United States have taken Great Britain's place as the world's commiserator. We were to cut off the exports of provisions we could starve Europe in a few months. This way has enlightened the old world on pig pig. Just a slight interruption of our commerce caused bread riots in Italy and France.

A great part of our prestige rests on beef and pork and we are willing that it should so long as it enables us to pay all our debts and keep up our prosperity.

MACHINE ROADWAYS.

THEY RECEIVE A PRACTICAL TEST IN NEBRASKA.

Successfully Withstood Frosts of Winter and Thaws of Spring—Smooth, Hard Roads Take the Place of Mudholes. Method of Construction.

The members of the board of county supervisors are taking a deep interest in the public road work that was done last summer on several of the main county highways and have started a systematic inquiry with a view of ascertaining how the roadbeds have withstood the spring thaw, says the Omaha Bee. Colonel Baker has perhaps taken more interest in this work than almost any other member of the board. He says:

"We have every reason to congratulate ourselves and the people of the county who use the roads that the effort to construct modern highways was begun last summer. Of the 24 miles of roadway we constructed last summer our reports do not show a mile that is not in good possible condition. In many places where at this time last year the mud was ankle deep to the vehicles that attempted to traverse the public highways immediately after the frost left the earth we now have firm, dry roadbeds over which heavy loads can be hauled. There has been more rain this season than last. The work we did has certainly demonstrated the wisdom of the board in investing a considerable sum of money in the road-making machinery we purchased and put into operation. We were considerably handicapped during a portion of the season on account of the excessive dryness of the soil, which could not be perfectly compacted by our system of harrowing and rolling."

"At all points where the new roadways are not up to the standard it will be found that the work was done when the ground was powder dry. Whenever we had moist earth to work upon we gave a firm and solid basis for the road that has not been affected by the weather. The old Chautauque road, where we did the most work, is a fine example."

The new method calls for the use of a 12 horsepower grader which is used for removing the earth from the sides of the roadway and piling it up in the center. As fast as it is deposited there it is spread out and thoroughly pulverized by a slender toothed harrow, which is followed by a roller weighing several tons. The loose earth is put on in layers of only about an inch in thickness, each subjected to repeated rolling. In this way a roadway, often several feet in thickness, is built up, firmly compacted from top to bottom. The surface has an oval form which sheds the water readily. Formerly in the public highways a short distance from the city there was only one narrow roadway where all of the vehicles turned turning only to pass each other. On the new roadways a surface of from 20 to 40 feet is used.

The roadmaking committee in the county board announces that the same general plans of last year will be followed the year and that all of the taxes realized from the 1 mill levy in the general fund of the county will be devoted to the road work. This fund has yielded about $20,000 a year for many years, and it has been the practice heretofore to apportion it to the several townships and permit it to be used under the direction of the township road supervisors, who have expended it, together with the additional township levy, to defray the cost of annually plowing up the roads. The board will endeavor to induce the city to consent this year to the relinquishment of its share of this fund to be used in making permanent roads in the immediate vicinity of town.

Road Maintenance.
The only way by which a macadam roadway can be kept firm and compact and preserved through summer heat is to maintain it regularly. If macadam is kept paying for it, it is worth caring for. But this is done only in spots, where private parties have the right to do so. It is customary to wait until the sun has disrupted the surface and then to spread on a quantity of earth, stones and so to "protect" it.—Exchange.

Reasons for Road Improvement.
The three most important reasons for road improvement are, first, the desirability of reducing the cost of hauling; second, the importance of making most of the roads for the pleasure driving, thereby attracting to the rural districts in summer thousands of people who create a local market for various products; third, the economic principle of preventing the great waste of labor which a local market creates in the making bad roads.—Professor F. J. H. Merrill.

Mr. George, Plerson, Mich., writes:
"DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is curing more piles here to-day than all other remedies combined. It cures eczema and all other skin diseases."—Short & Haynes

STATE AID FOR ROADS.
A Recognition That This Is the Solution of the Road Problem.
The strongest impetus which the good roads movement has received in many years past was the passage of the New York legislature of the rigid-armstrong good roads bill, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

It is significant of the rapid growth of public sentiment in favor of state aid to highway construction that the opposition to the measure could muster only 40 votes. Under this bill, which has become a law, the state appropriation for this year to expend for highway improvement will be $20,000, which, it is estimated, will amount to 2 cent per $1,000 of assessed valuation, or 2 1/2 cents on the average $2,500 farm.

The size of each year's appropriation is fixed by the legislature, and as the good results of the law become more discernible and more generally recognized it is not improbable that public sentiment will demand in a few years a much larger appropriation. Under the provisions by which a county is authorized to apply for a portion of the good roads appropriation the law becomes a home rule measure. If the appropriation should be increased to $1,000,000 in any year, the average tax on each $2,500 farm would be only 50 cents, which seems a trifling expenditure considering the immeasurable benefits that accrue to agriculturalists through good highways to the markets.

With such a notable example of what

WIDE TIRE BENEFITS.

Four Roads Are Improved by Them and Good Ones Preserved.

It has required much demonstration to convince the farmers that good roads are a profitable investment. The work of the agricultural experiment stations in this regard has been invaluable, says the Washington Star. Experiments with broad and narrow tires conducted under the eyes of the farmers have definitely shown the folly of maintaining the present system of small tired wheels as long as the roads are indifferent or positively bad in quality.

There are two points from which to view the relationship between the tires and the quality of the road. The experiments have shown first that as long as the roads are in poor condition, subject to much moisture and thereby liable to become heavy and muddy at short notice, the use of the narrow tire is a positive hindrance. It requires more power to haul a wagon so equipped, for the tire sinks deep into the material of the road, and thus forms for itself a constant obstruction that must be overcome. But the broad tire has a use other and indeed better than that of minimizing the labor and therefore the cost of hauling. It cures the bad conditions that have been largely caused by the narrow tire, serving as a compressor and gradually compacting the material and greatly improving its condition. Thus the use of the broad tire means a double gain. It saves in the cost of hauling by permitting the heavy loads to be hauled by the same agencies and in less time, and it saves, too, in the cost of roadmaking and in repairing.

It is believed that if all road users could be persuaded to change the tires of their draft vehicles, especially in the districts where bad roads are the rule rather than the exception, the ultimate cost of bringing the country through up to a modern standard would within a very short time be so low that the most comprehensive road improvement laws could be passed without any difficulty.

In some states much has been done by granting exemptions from road taxes to those road users who have adopted the broad tires and likewise to those who have adjusted their vehicles so that the front and rear wheels will not "track," thus minimizing the chances of wearing the surface of the road. It has been found that with broad tires the use of the amount of surfacing material needed is comparatively small.

With such a notable example of what the state can do in the way of encouraging the construction of good highways afforded by her neighbor, New Jersey, the wonder is that New York did not inaugurate the state aid system long ago. Under New Jersey's law the state bears one-third the expense, the balance of the appropriation being determined by the legislature. Under the stimulus of state aid nearly every county in the state is now building macadam roads, while there are already many miles of stone roads in the state that can be traversed in every direction without leaving them. Nineteen of the 21 counties of the state have this year made application for their shares of the appropriation.

The action of the New York legislature is gratifying recognition of the fact that state aid is the ultimate solution of the good roads problem.

Period of Roadmaking.
In an interesting article on "Ancient and Modern Highways," by C. L. Whitte, in The New England Magazine, the writer divides the history of roadbuilding as affected by various uses, into three periods: First, during the reign of the Egyptian and Assyrian kings; second, beginning with the rise of Carthage and continuing through the rise and fall of the Roman empire; third, beginning in France with the roads conceived by Napoleon and executed by Trauquet, then by Macadam and Telford in England, afterward on the continent, and now in the United States.

INTERNAL TRANSIT.

GREAT BRITAIN DISCUSSING IMPROVEMENT OF ROADS.

Better Highways Deemed Necessary to Enable Farmers to Transport Bulky Products—Vast Importance of Good Roads Not Generally Recognized.

The subject of improved highways for reducing the cost of transit for agricultural produce is being agitated not only in our country, where in some sections it is an absolute necessity on account of the impossible condition of our mud roads during certain seasons, but in Great Britain, where her macadamized thoroughfares are generally considered to be about as well constructed and managed as they can be. The principal object in agitating for better highways is to urge the necessity of improving our existing means of transit to enable our farmers throughout the country to transport or haul their heavy and bulky produce to market, or to the consumer.

There can be no question as to the immense value to our farming population of properly constructed and maintained thoroughfares, and which, it is to be hoped, will be forthcoming in the near future. The subject is again being given publicity through the columns of the public press, and it should be kept prominently before the minds of our people until the improved condition of our country highways is a matter of history.

Had Roads Retard Progress.

There is simple common sense for the good roads question. Let good men make the money road the roads. As things are at present organized—or disorganized—in Maryland not one dollar of a farmer's income is appropriated for roads reaches the work on the roads. This fact is known. It is admitted. It is one of the most scandalous of the state. Now the time has come for the money to be honestly used. There should be new laws, new regulations, new methods, new machinery. The lack of good roads is keeping down the price of every farm in the state, costing every farmer more to get his produce to market, keeping back that progress which would come if we had better highways.—Baltimore American.

Planked Shad.
This is the time of the year when planked shad offers unspeakable delight to the epicure. For many years the secret of preparing this delicacy was known only to Philadelphia, but to-day it is possible to obtain that dish in almost all of the larger cities of the Atlantic coast. The shad should be carefully cleaned, scraped and washed and should then be either planked or planked or fastened to it with a few wires. The board, with the fish applied to it in this manner, should be notched at one end with a few wires, so that the heat should play directly upon the surface of the fish. The board itself should be oiled, as should the planks, to improve the flavor of the shad, while other woods are not so beneficial in this respect.

When served, the shad should be released from its background, covered with melted butter, dusted with a little salt and pepper and garnished with a dozen different neat and pretty leaves, such as water cress, lettuce core and sorrel.—Margherita Arling, in Haum in New York Mail and Express.

Terrible Pain—Uncleanliness and Restlessness.

"CASADAGA, N. Y., June 30, 1894.
Dr. M. F. PENNER, Fredonia, N. Y.
Dear Sir:—About 4 years ago I had kidney trouble and backache. I was so bad that I could not ride out in a carriage without giving me great pain and a feeling of uneasiness and restlessness. I also had rheumatism, all over my system. I began the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure, and continued it until I had taken three bottles with the result of entirely curing me."

Up to the present we seem to have given little heed to the value of cheap internal transit for the produce of our farming industries, but if we consider carefully the advantage to be gained from having our country thoroughfares in the best possible condition for the transportation of the products of our farms, as well as for other traffic, it will be found to be far greater than appears on mere casual observation.

The good roads question, which should enlist the serious consideration of agriculturalists themselves, they being the chief beneficiaries, and it should be looked at from all points of view. If our highways are in such a condition as to allow heavier loads to be hauled with fewer animals, and the extra animals which were required for the same, or even smaller loads, on bad roads, can be utilized on other farm work, a considerable saving is made right there. A saving in time which can be made on good roads over bad, is a saving of money, and a reduction in the wear and tear of animals, wagons or other vehicles and harness, so that they last a greater length of time, is also money in the pocket of the farmer. Besides this, there is the possibility on good roads under all conditions of weather, which enables the farmer to take advantage of the market whenever it suits him, instead of, as is often the case, having to miss a good market on account of the bad condition of our country thoroughfares at certain seasons of the year.

There can be no question as to the immense value to our farming population of properly constructed and maintained thoroughfares, and which, it is to be hoped, will be forthcoming in the near future. The subject is again being given publicity through the columns of the public press, and it should be kept prominently before the minds of our people until the improved condition of our country highways is a matter of history.

Had Roads Retard Progress.
There is simple common sense for the good roads question. Let good men make the money road the roads. As things are at present organized—or disorganized—in Maryland not one dollar of a farmer's income is appropriated for roads reaches the work on the roads. This fact is known. It is admitted. It is one of the most scandalous of the state. Now the time has come for the money to be honestly used. There should be new laws, new regulations, new methods, new machinery. The lack of good roads is keeping down the price of every farm in the state, costing every farmer more to get his produce to market, keeping back that progress which would come if we had better highways.—Baltimore American.

Planked Shad.
This is the time of the year when planked shad offers unspeakable delight to the epicure. For many years the secret of preparing this delicacy was known only to Philadelphia, but to-day it is possible to obtain that dish in almost all of the larger cities of the Atlantic coast. The shad should be carefully cleaned, scraped and washed and should then be either planked or planked or fastened to it with a few wires. The board, with the fish applied to it in this manner, should be notched at one end with a few wires, so that the heat should play directly upon the surface of the fish. The board itself should be oiled, as should the planks, to improve the flavor of the shad, while other woods are not so beneficial in this respect.

When served, the shad should be released from its background, covered with melted butter, dusted with a little salt and pepper and garnished with a dozen different neat and pretty leaves, such as water cress, lettuce core and sorrel.—Margherita Arling, in Haum in New York Mail and Express.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Terrible Pain—Uncleanliness and Restlessness.

"CASADAGA, N. Y., June 30, 1894.
Dr. M. F. PENNER, Fredonia, N. Y.
Dear Sir:—About 4 years ago I had kidney trouble and backache. I was so bad that I could not ride out in a carriage without giving me great pain and a feeling of uneasiness and restlessness. I also had rheumatism, all over my system. I began the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure, and continued it until I had taken three bottles with the result of entirely curing me."

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kisman have taken rooms with Mrs. Geo. Jordan.

Mrs. C. C. Lightfoot, after a protracted illness, has almost recovered.

French's New Sensation will please the people with a show Thursday.

Sunday was an ideal summer day. Most every one in town was out promenade.

Miss Mary Clark, of Decatur, Ill., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. D. Babbe.

With possible results leading to this city the volume of business would be doubled.

Health Board suggests using copperas and crude carbolic acid around your premises for sale at Sulzer's.

Hal Murray is now the possessor of a handsome new buggy. He says he is going to rush all the girls in town.

The City Tax book for 1898 is now in my hands for collection. Please call and settle. G. W. Smoot, City Tax Collector.

R. V. L. E. Campbell, of Bowling Green, will preach at the Elm Street M. E. Church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Sam Conrath came very near meeting with a serious accident one evening last week. While entering an adjoining room she lost her balance and fell, sustaining a sprained ankle.

The social event of the season, in colored circles, was the marriage on Sunday of Susan Lee, of Haverhill, to Henry Jennings, of this city. Both bride and groom are well as can be expected.

Mrs. William Beavin is in receipt of a letter from her husband who is at Hot Springs, Ark. for his health, saying: "Since my location here I can not imagine a wonderful change in the condition of my health."

Jesse Whitworth has called a meeting of the Democratic City Committee to meet at Hardinburg July 7. The object of the meeting is to recommend three men as County Commissioners under the new election law.

This summer more persons are probably enjoying the excellent scenery of the packet line than ever before. On nearly every boat parties consisting of ten or fifteen are taking advantage of the pleasant outing and picturesque scenery.

French's New Sensation will strike this port Thursday evening. It goes without saying that Mr. French, with the unapproachable reputation he has obtained while touring the Ohio, will give his friends an entertainment well worth the price of admission and one that by no means should be missed.

This season promises to be the banner one for French. With his wide reputation he has made strenuous efforts to give the people something extraordinary in drama and vaudeville. He will reach this port Thursday and you should not miss the production of Uncle Tom's Cabin. The performance will be a continuous one and many laughable acts will be produced.

Most everyone has some peculiar trait of character and more especially among railroad men does this exist. There is in this vicinity a prominent young railroad man, who, by the way, possesses an exceptionally good watch, but in order to be faithful to his employers he has not allowed himself to take too much notice to any other time piece which is the means of him being a few moments ahead of time.

Rev. Virgil Elgin, presiding elder, will preach at Holt's Chapel next Saturday at 11 a. m. and Sunday at 11 a. m. and will administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. He will also preach at the Elm Street Methodist church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock and administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The Quarterly Conference will be held at the Breckenridge Bank Monday night at 8 o'clock.

It is only at rare intervals that this city is visited by Chicago entertainers. One of the most skillful electro-players in the country, E. D. Conover, is now at the Mitchell hotel and is prepared to plate all white metal, gold, silver, copper, etc. The playing is brilliant and not far from it. It will last ten years. A set of spoons is plated for 25 cents and a spoon and fork for 75 cents. Call at Mitchell hotel.

VICTIMS OF VICES.

Will Feel The Effects Of The New War Tax.

Cigars Will Be Tough And Drinks Will Be Small.

DON'T MAKE MIXED FLOUR.

The new tax bill, designed to collect revenue for the government, will go into effect in a short time.

It will hit all classes of people. The increase in the tax on beer and tobacco and cigars will work a hardship on people addicted to the use of beer and the weed.

Local dealers have not yet been notified by the Internal Revenue Collector as to the increase and it will probably not be done until the law becomes operative in July.

One brewing company raised the price on beer and the rest are expected to fall in line. The saloon keepers will probably do away with large glasses and give their customers "antisms" or "ponies" of beer. It is expected that the "growler" trade will be affected very materially.

Poorer stock will enter into the making of cheap grades of cigars, and the nickel cigar of the future, it is thought, will be on a par with the "two for."

As for the mills of this country, produce but very little "mixed flour" the tax on that product will yield very little revenue here. The local mill does not manufacture flour that is made partially of corn. The big Louisville concerns produce this grade and the increased price will give the county roller mills a better chance to compete.

Those country grist mills that produce "mixed flour" get their corn from the mills at Greenburg and Mt. Vernon, Ind., that make a specialty of the corn-meal.

The stamp act goes into effect July 1st. All persons who issue checks will have to pay for the stamps affixed thereon. Those who give mortgages, notes or other promises to pay, will also have to pay stamps as well as those who take out life and fire insurance policies.

The special tax on tobacco hits only those who have 1,000 pounds of manufactured tobacco and 10,000 cigars on hand. The tax on tobacco is 12 cents per pound. Its effect will be to make the plug smaller.

Druggists will be compelled to place a stamp on all proprietary medicines that have in stock and local pharmacists are making arrangements to do so. The tax will be 4 cents on every dollar package, 1 cent on 75 cent goods, 2 cents on 50 cent and 1 cent on 25 cent packages.

HE'S BIG HEARTED.

And a Great Lover of Flowers and Fruits.

There are few larger hearted in this community than Charles May. He possesses all those elements that make up a splendid character and one of his leading attributes is a love of flowers. It is a revelation to visit his cozy home with its pretty lawn and well kept garden. Beautiful roses, exquisite perennials, rare flowers and beautiful tropical plants, reveal their beauty of flower and foliage to make a perfect environment to the home. Mr. May and his accomplished wife have both horticulturists of a high order. They have large success with all their plants and also with their small fruits. They are the only growers in this section, of the delicious Japanese wineberry and the success they have met with is an eloquent tribute to their enthusiasm.

NO MARKET.

For Wheat Until the Threshing Season.

The future of the local wheat market is very uncertain.

The News reporter interviewed one of our local men about the situation Monday, and he said: "The situation is peculiar. There is a large amount of wheat for July delivery was contracted for at 75 cents, but on account of the uncertainty that is now a feature of the market, prices have fallen to 70 cents. We will not buy wheat until the threshing season opens, by that time the market will have some stability. I would not dare predict the opening price for new wheat but I think it will be low."

Does Baby Thrive?

If your baby is delicate and sickly and its food does not nourish it, put fifteen or twenty drops of Scott's Emulsion in its bottle three or four times a day and you will see a marked change.

We have had abundant proof that they will thrive on this emulsion when other food fails to nourish them.

It is the same with larger children that are delicate. Scott's Emulsion seems to be the element lacking in their food. Do not fail to try it if your children do not thrive. It is as useful for them in summer as in winter.

Ask your doctor if this is not true.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York

BOUNTIFUL CROPS.

And the Blessing of Good Roads Says This Writer.

Should Cause All The Citizens of Breckenridge to Rejoice.

EN NEWS—Hardinburg, Ky.—Why should not the spirit of mortal rejoice? Verily we see no reason why we should have the "times" longer. Good will be met the labor of the farmer with the most abundant wheat crop ever gathered in this section, the corn and tobacco crops not a whit behind but of course matured yet. In a short ride from Hardinburg to Rockvale last week our eyes never beheld such crops and such prosperity of the agricultural class. We saw on every side the harvester of the latest improved make, Deering, Woods and the Champion vying with each other as to which would do the nicest and most work with the least outlay of labor of both man and beast. Our best men say this is a record breaking year for selling machines. Mr. Fete, of July Station, reports the sale of 23 harvesters, B. F. Beard, Dillon & Co. thirteen and Deering & Miller 10, a total of forty-six machines that have been sold in this section this season and still the harvest has only just begun.

And we have actually begun the season of good roads for our county and this is creating a deal of enthusiasm among the people generally. We now have about thirteen miles of road graded in magisterial district No. 1, and at a cost of perhaps $300. The farmer now living five or six miles from town can hitch up a horse to his buggy and start to town with his wife without the additional trouble and expense of having to take along an extra horse and man to the vehicle through the mud and up and down the hills as in former days. Equine Mattingly is pushing the work on his road and before winter comes on we shall all be proud to claim as our work. The croakers will soon cease to croak about expense of constructing roads, when they see, as they are bound to see, that the roads are graded at so small an outlay for the time is really being done for. Why just think of it, which time we think the road already graded which has cost all told about two hundred dollars. The way in which our district is being worked our roads will be in splendid condition by October, by which time we think the expenditure of the road tax, will rise up and call our Fiscal Court blessed for having done so much for them without even consulting their whims in the matter. Some of you will perhaps say the writer of this is an agent to sell some road machine or one of the employees of the county to work on the roads. In this they will be mistaken, the writer is only a citizen, a taxpayer owning property in the county to which one of these roads lead.

A GENERAL CLEAN-UP.

Has Been Ordered By The Health Board.

The Board of Health has commenced a vigorous campaign against property owners who threaten the public health. It has served notices on property owners to clean up the yards and the streets in front of their premises and it has also ordered the owners of pig-sties the writ only within the city limits to abate such where they are declared to be nuisances.

The orders are being generally obeyed as the Board has shown a disposition to prosecute those who ignore both the warnings and orders.

The city is now being placed in splendid sanitary condition.

Pleasant Time Promised.

The showers of last Friday dampened the brill and frizzes of the Bay Viewers and such a event that a meeting was not held as had been arranged. The next and probably the last regular meeting of the circle will be with the Misses Greenwood, Friday, July 1st, the program for which will be announced later.

On next Friday there will be a call meeting of the circle with Mrs. R. B. McGlothlin. The library will be formally opened, rules adopted and an officers elected for the coming year. The program for last meeting will be the literary feature of the afternoon. Let all be present and any person wishing to join the library will send their names to the librarian, Mrs. R. B. McGlothlin.

SPLENDID TUSCAN.

Was a Former Resident of Cloverport.

One of the pleasant events in Louisville musical circles, this season, was the recent given last week by Mrs. Stone. This accomplished lady was once a resident of Cloverport. Her father, Doctor Bishop, is the owner of the Cloverport Hotel.

Big Shipments.

Quite an amount of tobacco is being shipped from this point to Louisville by boat. During a part of last week about thirty hogsheads were shipped daily from F. R. Pace, Jr.'s, warehouse.

TUT'S LIVER PILLS.

AN ABSOLUTE CURE.

SUMMER CATARRH

Catarrh of the bowels, because it is most prevalent in the summer months, is called summer catarrh.

It is a misapprehension that bowel trouble is catarrh. Dr. Hartman's books make this plain.

Write to the Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for them. They tell all about catarrh and how Peruna cures it wherever located.

"I had chronic catarrh for fifteen years," writes Mr. T. E. Miller, Grand Prairie, Tex. "I tried many medicines and doctors in vain. At last Peruna was recommended, and it relieved and cured me at once."

Mr. John Harting, 433 Main St., Cincinnati, O., writes: "My wife and myself took your Peruna for chronic catarrh and it cured us. No doctor or medicine we tried before helped us."

Mr. Edward Wornack, Ledbetter, Tex., writes: "I have chronic troubles, unequalled by anything in my experience. I owe my life to Peruna, and shall always recommend it to those suffering as I was."

Mr. John Edgerton, 1090 Third Ave., Altoona, Pa., says: "I suffered from dysentery for three years. I took Peruna and am now well."

HERE'S A RECORD.

Seven Miles of Fine Road Built at Small Cost.

The Cloverport district is extremely fortunate in possessing so conscientious and able a man for road overseer as H. Walker. He is an enthusiast on the good road subject and puts his whole heart in the work.

He is to be congratulated on the splendid record he has made on road construction during the past season.

During the short time that he has had the use of a road machine he has graded quite an amount of road, the exact figures being seven miles completed in eight days and that at a cost of only $37. Those who are competent to speak on the matter say that it is the best piece of dirt road in the county.

The cost of the same piece of road under the old conditions would have been $400. It is Mr. Walker's intention to get the State, Patterson Hill and Ohio river roads in good shape this year and every energy will be strained to this end.

Mr. Walker intends to fill up the mud holes in Allen's and Thompson's lanes with crushed rock and thus permanently improve them.

He made arrangements Saturday for scrapers and other tools so that the work may be greatly facilitated.

Oh! Bay!

have you given Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a trial? It will cure you of your ills. It will correct your stomach troubles and make your life worth living. Trial a bottle 10c, (10 days 10c) large sizes 50c and $1.00, of Chas. C. Martin.

ON THE RAMPAGE.

Clover Creek Transformed into a Ragging Torrent.

Friday's rain was a gully washer and a cold soaker. The water came down in such volumes that it soon converted old Clover creek into a mad, roaring torrent. The water came swirling down with a mighty roar and with the force of a cloud-burst. The creek bed was soon to pieces and the accumulated mud and slime washed away.

The flushing that the creek received enhances the sanitary condition of the city and removes a cause for malaria.

While the rain was welcome to farmers it was not an unqualified blessing as it did some damage. Lew Waggoner lost considerable wheat and James Tucker had his growing crop of tobacco washed out by the storm.

FROM FOOT TO KNEE

Ohio Woman Suffered Great Agony From a Terrible Sore—Her Story of the Case, and Her Cure.

"For many years I was afflicted with a milk leg, and a few years ago it broke out in a sore and spread from my foot to my knee. I suffered great agony. It would burn and itch all the time and discharge a great deal. My knee was so swollen with the exception of this sore. I tried a great many kinds of salt, but some would irritate the sore so that I could not stand the pain. I could not go near the fire without suffering intensely. Some one sent me papers containing testimonials of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I told my husband I would like to try this medicine. He got me a bottle and I found it helped me. I kept on taking it until my limb was completely healed. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla enough for the great benefit it has done to me. It cleanses the blood of all impurities and leaves it rich and pure." MRS. ANNA E. KAKES, Whitewater, Ohio. You can buy Hood's Sarsaparilla at all druggists. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family medicine. Beware of cheap imitations. Price 25c.

The General Conference at Baltimore declared that the President of an Epworth League, if a man, was a member of a Quarterly Conference and entitled to a vote in the body, but in case this president be a woman, she was not to be entitled to the same. The ministers of the Dark Ages still hover over us.

This vicinity was very generally represented at Irvington Sunday at all the services. The Baptist Sunday-school in the morning was in fine order. The Methodist church was filled by Mr. B. Perry Weaver to the delight of all present. We look over here, want to come and preach for us. The people treated us very graciously at all times. In the afternoon were entertained by a N. L. Children's Day service. The little ones performed their parts very creditably, and those in charge showed good taste and judgment in their selections. We hope to be with them again next year.

IRVINGTON.

A fine rain has helped vegetation greatly.

Miss Tyler entertained a number of the young people pleasantly last evening.

Miss Lena R. Hensley, Hardinsburg, is visiting her aunt and will remain sometime.

Roy Cain was in the zenith of his glory Sunday. Success to you little P. M.

Hon. John P. Hawell, Hardinsburg, was among the guest at R. M. Jolly's Sunday.

Miss Charlotte Herndon has been a guest at "Oakland" the charming home place of the Tyler's.

I enjoyed so pleasant guests Sunday Mrs. John Lydian and little ones and hope they will come again Sunday.

Misses Bevie Cain, Minnie Smith and Nannie Lydian, of Webster, were the guests of Nannie Lee Jolly Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, of Louisville are at Washington place. They will remain until after the McGee—Avitt wedding.

Miss Lena Drury, whose presence has been upon us like a ray of sunshine, last week has returned to her Bewleyville home.

Miss Mary Blandford was another of Bewleyville's fair and charming daughters whom it was our pleasure to greet and have as guest Sunday.

A large delegation from Bewleyville and Webster were present Sunday at the exercise of the day. Truly these communities verily "let brotherly love continue."

"Golden Rod" of Bewleyville, by her family of three younger children came down and made us all glad Sunday. She does not say much, but what she does say counts and we would enjoy more frequent comings.

Bro. Henson was too ill to come to Irvington Sunday to fill his appointment, a fact which caused much regret.

Mr. Weaver, however, was present and filled the pulpit, preaching a sermon on "Love," which subject he handled well presenting truths which if accepted and adopted would make far more of happiness in this earthly life.

Miss Lena Drury and Blanch Jolly, Misses Overton Blandford and Roy Cain sang a quartette Sunday morning, which was appreciated by the many. This Bewleyville quartette is such a wide reputation that any words of commendation I might express would be superfluous, but I do want to express to each one of them my appreciation for their willingness to respond to my calls and thank them heartily for part, present and "future" favors.

On every side we hear talk of "Sam Jones" coming. Yes he is coming and the time is fast nearing. Let every one understand fully that the sermon is free. It is a gross mistake that an admittance fee will be charged. After hearing Sam Jones and enjoying a pleasant interchange of greetings and hospitalities, if you go away from Irvington without the strings of your pocket book being untied, it will not be Sam Jones' fault. Reports are so good you know, so remember that when putting on your Sunday clothes for that occasion.

Judging from the many kindly words of appreciation expressed to me individually am sure that the Children's Day exercises must have been satisfactory and I want to thank each child as well as the older ones for the work they did and for the willingness with which they did all that was required. The children deserve the praise for the work and words of approval cost little, so let those who enjoyed give to the children the kindly word of approval which will please and inspire and will not cost a cent more than the words of disapproval. They did the work and I am proud of them and love each one of them with a "heart full of love."
